And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The Pied Piper Booster Club will sponsor the annual All Sports Banquet Tuesday evening in the high school cafeteria. This will be an excellent time for the people of Hamlin to pay tribute to the youngsters that have brought a lot of recognition to Hamlin during this past year.

Just as they have every year, these youngsters have given freely of their time and talent this past year in an effort to excel in the various sports that Hamlin High competes in.

They have had another good year, winning the district title or better in a number of the sports and representing themselves well in the others.

Now it is time that we adults express our appreciation for the hours of pleasure they have given us during the past year.

Make your plans now to attend the banquet Tuesday, get a good meal, hear a good speaker, but most of all give these youngsters a pat on the back for a job well done.

We have probably mentioned this before but some of the top entertainment values we have ever found are some of these weekend celebrations put on by communities across the state.

We were in Ennis this past weekend where the annual Ennis Czech Polka Festival was being held. They had one of the best parades we have seen in years, the food was great and the whole thing was most enjoyable.

If you watch for them through information put out by the Texas Tourist Development Agency or the Highway Department you can find these special events almost any weekend.

These celebrations seem to be particularly great if you enjoy eating because almost all of them feature some great food.

AT THE RISK OF sounding like a cracked record, it seems timely to comment again on the extremely complicated plan that President Carter suggests the government adopt to conserve energy, punish the wastrels and reward the savers. Supply and demand and the discipline of the marketplace will prevail in the end, and the need for a commonsense approach to the problem is expressed so eloquently in a recent Dallas News editorial that we quote it in the remaining paragraphs of this column:

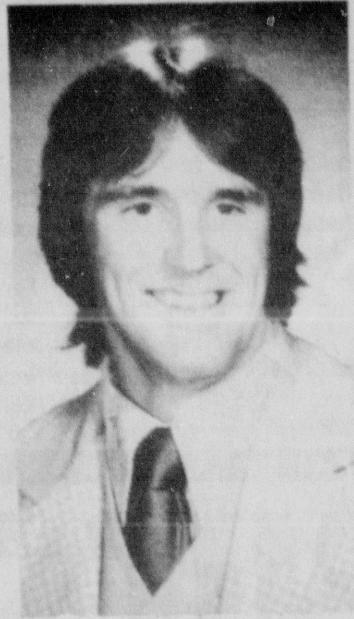

"The marketplace is in fact not a specific location at all. It exists only in the figurative sense. In our figurative marketplace, everyone from neighborhood retailer to corporation president sets up his figurative stall. Among their wares, the buyer wanders endlessly. He hears the cries of the merchants, and yet what he buys he buys out of free choice.

"Thus the merchants watch him carefully. Where will he go next? What will he buy? Some see him pass them with hardly a sideward glance. What have they done wrong? What is the matter with their goods? Too old? Too frivolous? Too costly? Such are the questions that go through their minds. They have got to know. The buyer is sovereign, and they must pay him the homage of offering acceptable products.

"On the other hand, some merchants are deluged with offers to buy. What they sell has evidently taken the buyer's fancy. The buyer can be certain furthermore that should he want additional goods they will be available. With his dollars he has said to the merchant that he is pleased. The merchant is quick to understand that he is doing something right. He will keep doing it.

"All this, it will be rightly said, is plain old commonsense. But that is why the marketplace works supremely well at supplying needs and allocating services. Every

Neinda Philosopher Has No Solution On What To Do About The President's Mail

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One discusses a Presidential problem this week, sort of.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper the other day, President Carter is getting about 75,000 letters a week from people around the country. It might be even more, but you know how the mail service is these days. Anyway, I got to thinking about this. Seventy-five thousand letters! If each letter averages just 100 words, that's 7,500,000 words or, divided into books of 50,000 words each, 150 books. Now no man can read 150 books a week and still have time to run the country and teach a Sunday School class too. So obviously somebody else reads the letters and answers them. It's like nine million people trying to call the President when he held his famous phone-in a while back. Only about a dozen actually got to talk to him. Those 75,000 letters a week constitute a problem for which I have no solution. It's one of those problems like energy or the Middle East which, after you get through stating it, you're too tired to go any further. But speaking of mail, I understand some people are suggesting the post office department adopt an electronic system of delivering letters. Instead of being actually carried from one town to another, the letter is photographed and transmitted by wire to its destination, where another machine reproduces it exactly like you wrote it and seals it. A mailman then delivers it to the proper address, as soon as he can get around to it. The system has a few drawbacks, like what about privacy, although I guess clerks could be required to turn out the lights when they're feeding your letter into the transmitting machine so they couldn't see what you wrote. This reminds me of an experience a depot agent in a small town had back in the days when we had trains and the agent, being the only telegrapher in town, handled telegrams. One cold rainy day he received a telegram on his wires for a woman. He telephoned her and said he had a telegram for her but since it was too cold and rainy outside for her to come by and pick it up, would she like

Migrant Parent Dinner Is Well Attended Here

Approximately 176 people attended the cinco de mayo Migrant Parent dinner Thursday at the First Baptist Church Fellowship hall.

The dinner was held on this date because of its significance to the Mexican-American people. It is celebrated as a day of Independence in Mexico. It was on this date that the Mexican forces in their struggle for independence from France, turned back the invading armies. This provided the turning point in their eventual independence from France.

The children in the Migrant classes have been studying the Mexican culture and heritage so for a program at the dinner they decided to perform various songs and dances. The dances included La Bamba, La Raspa, Los Viejos, and El Jarabe Tapatio. Songs were Cleito Lindo, Las Mananitas, Mi Chacra, and El Gallo Tuerto.

The program that the children presented was under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Gaines and Mrs. Mary Jo Marentes.

Mrs. Louise Pena gave the welcome.

Hamlin Hospital Observing National Hospital Week

The Hamlin Memorial Hospital is taking part in the observation of National Hospital Week this week,
according to Mrs. Billie Speck, administrator. The theme for the week is
"putting the care in health care," she said.

She pointed out that if we all cared more about health
— our own and our community's — we could find ways to feel better every week of the year.

As part of this special
week, John Scarborough,
president of the board of directors of the Hamlin Hospital District, has extended a "special pat-on-the-back" to each of the 40 employees of the local hospital.
He said that the board recognizes that each of the employees of the hospital are proud that their job is to put the care in health care every week of the year.

In coordination with this week, Mrs. Speck announced that Mrs. Joyce Covington, supervisor of the housekeeping department, has been selected as employee of the year. The selection was made upon nominations from hospital employees, Mrs.
Speck said.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Speck said, "Joyce is an employee
who consistently exhibits genuine concern for the welfare of every patient and

co-worker and she is a dependable supervisor who executes her duties well."

Reddy Tips To Help You...

Your ENERGY Dollar$

Use your Room Air-Conditioner Wisely...

- Cover or close all floor and wall registers so that cool air does not escape into the duct-work of your heating system.
- Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
- Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restrict air flow to the coils.
- Make sure that windows and doors fit tightly. The cooling equipment works on the principle of constantly reconditioning the inside air.

FROM THE FILES...

FIFTY YEARS AGO (May 13, 1927)

Sunday morning, May 15th, the new Methodist Church will be opened with Rev. J. H. Hamblen, Presiding Elder of Stamford District, preaching the first sermon.

In the evening the service will be the Baccalaureate Service for the Senior Class of the Hamlin High School. Rev. J. Henry Littleton, pastor of the First Baptist Church will deliver the main address. Rev. G. T. Palmer, pastor of the Methodist Church and Rev. J. T. Nicholson will assist with the service. A splendid program of music will be given under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Howard.

Less than one year ago, the new Methodist Church was begun, and the building progressed steadily and now stands completed, a handsome three-story brick structure, spacious and modern in every way.

Co. Penick has made a study of the Bankhead Association of Cisco, and of several other co-operative organizations and is using the experiences of these as a basis for organizing a marketing organization in Central West Texas Poultry Association. Mr. Albert Moore was elected president. The following Board of Directors were elected to carry out the plans of the organization, regarding its marketing and general educational plans. Messrs. J. W. Ezell, R. A. Crockett, T. J. Howe and O. S. Brown. Mr. M. E. Carlton was appointed Secretary.

When interviewed by a representative of the Hamlin Herald, Mr. Moore had the following to say: "To complete the organization of the local unit it is going to require the co-operation of every local poultry producer in the Hamlin trade territory. It is going to take loyalty on the part of membership in order to put us safely over the danger line, and if the people of this surrounding community will come in to this organization and we can have the poultry and eggs to sell, it will make everything better when cotton is cheap."

At the home of little Miss Elmo Joy Wilson Friday afternoon the members of the S. S. Club spent a delightful hour playing progressive flinch. At the conclusion of the games Mary Nolan held high score.

The hostess passed an attractive refreshment plate carrying orange sherbet and individual cakes to little Misses Eugenia Scales, Florine White, Doris Pope, Mary Nolan, Mildred Nobles, Aretta Roberts and Clydene Wilson.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (May 9, 1957)

Weldon Johnson, railroad agent in Hamlin, was elected new president of the Hamlin Foundation when leaders of the organization met last Monday in special called session in the lobby of the bank for a business session. The foundation was formed two years ago as a unit to build a community swimming pool.

Ginger Means Cheshier, Hamlin High School senior, won the Class A conference shorthand contest at the state Interscholastic League meet held Saturday at Austin. Elizabeth Norton placed fourth in the state.

Ginger and Elizabeth were accompanied to Austin by Miss Dora Mitchell and Judy Harden, ready writer contestant, and Sara Fomby, extemporaneous speaker.

Dairy cattle judging team of the Hamlin chapter of Future Farmers of America placed third in the state FFA judging contests staged Saturday at Texas A & M College. Gene Murff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murff, was the second high scoring individual in the entire contests.

Other two members of the dairy judging crew were Joe Deel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Deel, and Boyce Blankinship, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Blankinship.

Organization has been completed of the four teams in the Hamlin Little Baseball League, it is reported this week by George C. Campbell, president.

Practice sessions will be conducted Saturday night at the Little League diamond in West Hamlin, and actual league play is scheduled to get underway next Monday night.

The four teams, with their managers, are listed as follows:

Braves—Dick McClung, Garland Preston and L. W. Shivers; Giants—Othell Sipe and George Batchelor; Yankees—Prentice Holland and Cecil Brown; Cardinals—Lewis Fincannon, Bernie Cumble and Dr. M. L. Smith.

TEN YEARS AGO (May 11, 1967)

The Hamlin Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes held their first assemblage in the Hamlin Jaycee Community Building, one of the club's major projects during the past year, Monday evening.

The installation banquet was marked by special awards and brief messages from outgoing officers. Guy Weaver, retiring Jaycee president, presented the top Jaycee awards.

Teddy Mac Seay was named Jaycee of the Year, and Skipper Smith was presented the Key Man Award. Spark Plug Awards were presented Bill Early, Ewell Mackey, Guy Weaver, and Smith.

Outstanding Jaycee-ette of the Year was presented to Mrs. Skipper Smith by retiring president, Mrs. Bill Early.

New Jaycee officers installed by Billy Mac Hyde of Abilene were Ewell Mackey, president; Smith, vice president; Seay, second vice president; Bill Early, secretary; Bill Chapman, treasurer; Johnny Jeffrey, inter-club director; Eddie Offield, Jimmy Hale, Raymond Scifres and Buddy Bryson, directors.

Voting Procedures for Beef Checkoff Program Outlined

There has been much discussion about the proposed Beef Research and Information Program, which will be voted on this spring by beef and dairy cattle owners. The registration period for producers to qualify in the election is set between June 6-17, and the actual voting dates are July 5-15.

Eligible producers should contact their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office to receive a registration form. The county ASCA offices will conduct the referendum, explains Kirby Clayton, county Extension agent.

"There are two separate parts of the referendum, registration and voting," he reminds. "A producer must register during the first period and must make another trip to vote during that designated period."

At least 50 per cent of the cattle owners who register must vote—and two thirds must vote affirmatively—in order for the referendum to

Two Local Girl Scouts To Spend Week In Mexico

Two cadette Girl Scouts and one alternate from Hamlin have been chosen to represent the West Texas Girl Scouts for a week in 1978 to "Our Cabana" in Mexico.

Diane Young and Kathy Prewitt, with Stephanie Haught as alternate, were chosen.

The girls applied to the Council and were interviewed May 3. They received letters Friday stating that they had been chosen.

Every three years West Texas WTGSC has the opportunity to send girls to

"Our Cabana," one of the four world centers for Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. The program is called Wider Opportunities for older Girl Scouts around the world.

The Hamlin girls were in competition with others who applied from the 16 counties served by the West Texas Council. A percentage of the expense will be paid by the council and the girls with the help of the local Girl Scouts in fund raising projects will pay the balance.

A slide program on "Our Cabana" was presented to the Hamlin Rotary Club May 4 by Donna Kainer of Stamford, an adult leader who has made the trip before and has applied for 1978.

Hamlin has been in Scouting for girls for five years and the leaders were pleased that the girls were chosen.

NEWS AND VIEWS...

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

The Pied Piper Booster Club will sponsor the annual All Sports Banquet Tuesday evening in the high school cafeteria. This will be an excellent time for the people of Hamlin to pay tribute to the youngsters that have brought a lot of recognition to Hamlin during this past year.

Just as they have every year, these youngsters have given freely of their time and talent this past year in an effort to excel in the various sports that Hamlin High competes in.

They have had another good year, winning the district title or better in a number of the sports and representing themselves well in the others.

Now it is time that we adults express our appreciation for the hours of pleasure they have given us during the past year.

Make your plans now to attend the banquet Tuesday, get a good meal, hear a good speaker, but most of all give these youngsters a pat on the back for a job well done.

We have probably mentioned this before but some of the top entertainment values we have ever found are some of these weekend celebrations put on by communities across the state.

We were in Ennis this past weekend where the annual Ennis Czech Polka Festival was being held. They had one of the best parades we have seen in years, the food was great and the whole thing was most enjoyable.

If you watch for them through information put out by the Texas Tourist Development Agency or the Highway Department you can find these special events almost any weekend.

These celebrations seem to be particularly great if you enjoy eating because almost all of them feature some great food.

AT THE RISK OF sounding like a cracked record, it seems timely to comment again on the extremely complicated plan that President Carter suggests the government adopt to conserve energy, punish the wastrels and reward the savers. Supply and demand and the discipline of the marketplace will prevail in the end, and the need for a commonsense approach to the problem is expressed so eloquently in a recent Dallas News editorial that we quote it in the remaining paragraphs of this column:

"The marketplace is in fact not a specific location at all. It exists only in the figurative sense. In our figurative marketplace, everyone from neighborhood retailer to corporation president sets up his figurative stall. Among their wares, the buyer wanders endlessly. He hears the cries of the merchants, and yet what he buys he buys out of free choice.

"Thus the merchants watch him carefully. Where will he go next? What will he buy? Some see him pass them with hardly a sideward glance. What have they done wrong? What is the matter with their goods? Too old? Too frivolous? Too costly? Such are the questions that go through their minds. They have got to know. The buyer is sovereign, and they must pay him the homage of offering acceptable products.

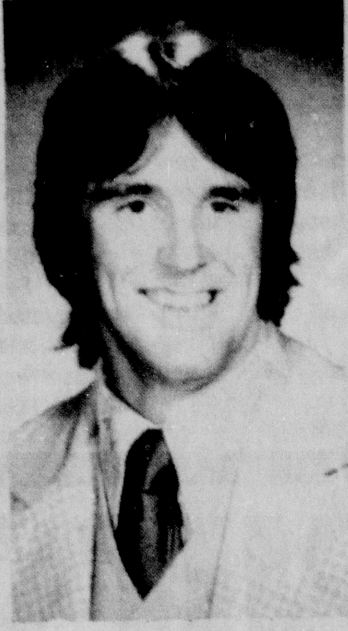

"On the other hand, some merchants are deluged with offers to buy. What they sell has evidently taken the buyer's fancy. The buyer can be certain furthermore that should he want additional goods they will be available. With his dollars he has said to the merchant that he is pleased. The merchant is quick to understand that he is doing something right. He will keep doing it.

"All this, it will be rightly said, is plain old common sense. But that is why the marketplace works supremely well at supplying needs and allocating services. Every

School to Sell Surplus Vehicles, Order Bus

The Trustees of the Hamlin Independent School District, in their regular monthly meeting Monday, voted to seek bids to sell a surplus bus and car and to purchase a new bus.

The school will seek bids on a 1970 Rambler automobile and a 1965 Chevrolet 48-passenger bus.

The trustees voted to purchase a new 48-passenger bus through the state at an estimated cost of $11,500.00. Superintendent Bob Hawes told the board that the price of buses has increased because of the recently passed National Bus Safety Standards.

For a number of years the local district has operated on the policy of replacing a bus every two years.

The board adopted a Management Plan devised by the administrators and faculty. The plan calls for surveying the goals and accomplishments of the school system.

Johnny Steele, tax assessor-collector, reported to the board that Bill Feagan, Robert Moore and Henry Albritton had agreed to serve on the equalization board.

Hawes reported to the board that the school fed 72 senior citizens at its first Thursday meal and served 61 the second week. "These folks are so appreciative of this opportunity and really seem to enjoy it," he said. He also told the board that for the first time the entire student body of the school was able to attend an assembly in the new auditorium. The students, kindergarten through high school, heard the Air Force Band play Friday.

Neinda Philosopher Has No Solution On What To Do About The President's Mail

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One discusses a Presidential problem this week, sort of.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper the other day, President Carter is getting about 75,000 letters a week from people around the country. It might be even more, but you know how the mail service is these days. Anyway, I got to thinking about this. Seventy-five thousand letters! If each letter averages just 100 words, that's 7,500,000 words or, divided into books of 50,000 words each, 150 books. Now no man can read 150 books a week and still have time to run the country and teach a Sunday School class too. So obviously somebody else reads the letters and answers them. It's like nine million people trying to call the President when he held his famous phone-in a while back. Only about a dozen actually got to talk to him. Those 75,000 letters a week constitute a problem for which I have no solution. It's one of those problems like energy or the Middle East which, after you get through stating it, you're too tired to go any further. But speaking of mail, I understand some people are suggesting the post office department adopt an electronic system of delivering letters. Instead of being actually carried from one town to another, the letter is photographed and transmitted by wire to its destination, where another machine reproduces it exactly like you wrote it and seals it. A mailman then delivers it to the proper address, as soon as he can get around to it. The system has a few drawbacks, like what about privacy, although I guess clerks could be required to turn out the lights when they're feeding your letter into the transmitting machine so they couldn't see what you wrote. This reminds me of an experience a depot agent in a small town had back in the days when we had trains and the agent, being the only telegrapher in town, handled telegrams. One cold rainy day he received a telegram on his wires for a woman. He telephoned her and said he had a telegram for her but since it was too cold and rainy outside for her to come by and pick it up, would she like

Approximately 176 people attended the cinco de mayo Migrant Parent dinner Thursday at the First Baptist Church Fellowship hall.

The dinner was held on this date because of its significance to the Mexican-American people. It is celebrated as a day of Independence in Mexico. It was on this date that the Mexican forces in their struggle for independence from France, turned back the invading armies. This provided the turning point in their eventual independence from France.

The children in the Migrant classes have been studying the Mexican culture and heritage so for a program at the dinner they decided to perform various songs and dances. The dances included La Bamba, La Raspa, Los Viejos, and El Jarabe Tapatio. Songs were Cleito Lindo, Las Mananitas, Mi Chacra, and El Gallo Tuerto.

The program that the children presented was under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Gaines and Mrs. Mary Jo Marentes.

Mrs. Louise Pena gave the welcome.

Hamlin Hospital Observing National Hospital Week

The Hamlin Memorial Hospital is taking part in the observation of National Hospital Week this week,
according to Mrs. Billie Speck, administrator. The theme for the week is
"putting the care in health care," she said.

She pointed out that if we
all cared more about health
— our own and our community's — we could find ways to feel better every
week of the year.
As part of this special
week, John Scarborough,
president of the board of directors of the Hamlin
Hospital District, has extended a "special pat-on-the-
back" to each of the 40 employees of the local hospital.
He said that the board
recognizes that each of the employees of the hospital are proud that their job is to put the care in health care every week of the year.

In coordination with this week, Mrs. Speck announced
that Mrs. Joyce Covington,
supervisor of the housekeeping department, has been selected as employee of the year. The selection was made upon nominations from
hospital employees, Mrs.
Speck said.
In making the announcement, Mrs. Speck
said, "Joyce is an employee
who consistently exhibits
genuine concern for the welfare of every patient and

co-worker and she is a dependable supervisor who
executes her duties well."

Reddy Tips To Help You...

Your ENERGY Dollar$

Use your Room Air-Conditioner Wisely..

- Cover or close all floor and wall registers so that cool air does not escape into the duct-work of your heating system.
- Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw drap-eries against afternoon sun.
- Your air-conditioner will operate ineffi-ciently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restrict air flow to the coils.
- Make sure that windows and doors fit tightly. The cooling equipment works on the principle of constantly reconditioning the inside air.

FROM THE FILES...

FIFTY YEARS AGO (May 13, 1927)

Sunday morning, May 15th, the new Methodist Church will be opened with Rev. J. H. Hamblen, Presiding Elder of Stamford District, preaching the first sermon.

In the evening the service will be the Baccalaureate Service for the Senior Class of the Hamlin High School. Rev. J. Henry Littleton, pastor of the First Baptist Church will deliver the main address. Rev. G. T. Palmer, pastor of the Methodist Church and Rev. J. T. Nicholson will assist with the service. A splendid program of music will be given under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Howard.

Less than one year ago, the new Methodist Church was begun, and the building progressed steadily and now stands completed, a handsome three-story brick structure, spacious and modern in every way.

Co. Penick has made a study of the Bankhead Association of Cisco, and of several other co-operative organizations and is using the experiences of these as a basis for organizing a marketing organization in Central West Texas Poultry Association. Mr. Albert Moore was elected president. The following Board of Directors were elected to carry out the plans of the organization, regarding its marketing and general educational plans. Messrs. J. W. Ezell, R. A. Crockett, T. J. Howe and O. S. Brown. Mr. M. E. Carlton was appointed Secretary.

When interviewed by a representative of the Hamlin Herald, Mr. Moore had the following to say: "To complete the organization of the local unit it is going to require the co-operation of every local poultry producer in the Hamlin trade territory. It is going to take loyalty on the part of membership in order to put us safely over the danger line, and if the people of this surrounding community will come in to this organization and we can have the poultry and eggs to sell, it will make everything better when cotton is cheap."

At the home of little Miss Elmo Joy Wilson Friday afternoon the members of the S. S. Club spent a delightful hour playing progressive flinch. At the conclusion of the games Mary Nolan held high score.

The hostess passed an attractive refreshment plate carrying orange sherbet and individual cakes to little Misses Eugenia Scales, Florine White, Doris Pope, Mary Nolan, Mildred Nobles, Aretta Roberts and Clydene Wilson.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (May 9, 1957)

Weldon Johnson, railroad agent in Hamlin, was elected new president of the Hamlin Foundation when leaders of the organization met last Monday in special called session in the lobby of the bank for a business session. The foundation was formed two years ago as a unit to build a community swimming pool.

Ginger Means Cheshier, Hamlin High School senior, won the Class A conference shorthand contest at the state Interscholastic League meet held Saturday at Austin. Elizabeth Norton placed fourth in the state.

Ginger and Elizabeth were accompanied to Austin by Miss Dora Mitchell and Judy Harden, ready writer contestant, and Sara Fomby, extemporaneous speaker.

Dairy cattle judging team of the Hamlin chapter of Future Farmers of America placed third in the state FFA judging contests staged Saturday at Texas A & M College. Gene Murff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murff, was the second high scoring individual in the entire contests.

Other two members of the dairy judging crew were Joe Deel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Deel, and Boyce Blankinship, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Blankinship.

Organization has been completed of the four teams in the Hamlin Little Baseball League, it is reported this week by George C. Campbell, president.

Practice sessions will be conducted Saturday night at the Little League diamond in West Hamlin, and actual league play is scheduled to get underway next Monday night.

The four teams, with their managers, are listed as follows:

Braves—Dick McClung, Garland Preston and L. W. Shivers; Giants—Othell Sipe and George Batchelor; Yankees—Prentice Holland and Cecil Brown; Cardinals—Lewis Fincannon, Bernie Cumbie and Dr. M. L. Smith.

TEN YEARS AGO (May 11, 1967)

The Hamlin Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes held their first assemblage in the Hamlin Jaycee Community Building, one of the club's major projects during the past year, Monday evening.

The installation banquet was marked by special awards and brief messages from outgoing officers. Guy Weaver, retiring Jaycee president, presented the top Jaycee awards.

Teddy Mac Seay was named Jaycee of the Year, and Skipper Smith was presented the Key Man Award. Spark Plug Awards were presented Bill Early, Ewell Mackey, Guy Weaver, and Smith.

Two Local Girl Scouts To Spend Week In Mexico

Two cadette Girl Scouts and one alternate from Hamlin have been chosen to represent the West Texas Girl Scouts for a week in 1978 to "Our Cabana" in Mexico.

Diane Young and Kathy Prewitt, with Stephanie Haught as alternate, were chosen.

The girls applied to the Council and were interviewed May 3. They received letters Friday stating that they had been chosen.

Every three years West Texas WTGSC has the opportunity to send girls to

"Our Cabana," one of the four world centers for Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. The program is called Wider Opportunities for older Girl Scouts around the world.

The Hamlin girls were in competition with others who applied from the 16 counties served by the West Texas Council. A percentage of the expense will be paid by the council and the girls with the help of the local Girl Scouts in fund raising projects will pay the balance.

A slide program on "Our Cabana" was presented to the Hamlin Rotary Club May 4 by Donna Kainer of Stamford, an adult leader who has made the trip before and has applied for 1978.

Hamlin has been in Scouting for girls for five years and the leaders were pleased that the girls were chosen.

And What Have You

minute of every day, the buyer is saying what he wants done, and because the desire to prosper and not to fail is one of the constants of human nature, what the buyer wants from the merchant he will get.

"If there is a more rational way of distributing energy than through the free marketplace, what might it be? Government action? But this not only negates the buyer's and seller's freedom—it stifles the creative abilities of the merchant, who wants, let us remember, to prosper. So we are running low on oil. Very well. The merchant will find us more oil, provided we are willing to compensate him for his time, trouble and expense.

"Now it is true that oil supplies are finite and must some day run out. Not to worry, however, for the merchant will find us something else, provided, once again, we are willing to remunerate him. It may be coal that he offers us on an interim basis; in the long run, it may be solar power. Whatever the case, he will find the cheapest, most available sources he can — because, if you want to be brutal about it, he means to go on receiving the buyer's dollars.

"A magnificent system, the marketplace. The pity is that it should be underutilized, and even disbelieved in by the apostles of price controls and other coercive tactics, who think they know best for us.

"How they delude themselves! It is the buyer, not the bureaucrat, who knows best. And the sooner this is generally understood in Washington, the rosier our hopes will grow for making the supply of energy match the demand."

Voting Procedures for Beef Checkoff Program Outlined

There has been much discussion about the proposed Beef Research and Information Program, which will be voted on this spring by beef and dairy cattle owners. The registration period for producers to qualify in the election is set between June 6-17, and the actual voting dates are July 5-15.

Eligible producers should contact their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office to receive a registration form. The county ASCA offices will conduct the referendum, explains Kirby Clayton, county Extension agent.

"There are two separate parts of the referendum, registration and voting," he reminds. "A producer must register during the first period and must make another trip to vote during that designated period."

At least 50 per cent of the cattle owners who register must vote—and two thirds must vote affirmatively—in order for the referendum to be valid. Those eligible include 4-H youths, FFA members, men and women who own livestock.

"There is no age limit or minimum requirement of numbers of cattle owned in order to qualify to vote. Any questions about bonafide ownership can be resolved by tax records, sales slips, registration papers or any other valid papers showing ownership of livestock," adds the county agent.

A partnership, cooperative, corporation or similar business is considered as only a single entity for the purpose of voting in the referendum. Where a husband and wife own cattle jointly, this will be considered a single entity and only one may vote. If each owns cattle separately and has documented proof of ownership, this is considered as two entities and each may vote.

In the event that a person owns cattle in a county other than where he lives, or if he cannot make it to the polls during the registration or voting period, it will be possible to write or telephone the county ASCA office for an absentee ballot, explains Clayton. If approved, the Beef Research and Information Program will allow establishment of projects for advertising, promotion, education, producer information and consumer information with respect to the use of cattle, beef and beef products.
